THE BETH JOHNSON FOUNDATION

PROJECTS INITIATED BY THE FOUNDATION

2010

Following additional consideration the Foundation has now confirmed its core mission:

1. Mission statement

The purpose of the Beth Johnson Foundation (BJF) is to enhance the quality of life of older people and their experiences of ageing through stimulating and facilitating change.

In achieving our mission our aspiration is that as a consequence of our work we make a significant contribution to:

- Shaping communities in which older people can age well
- Older people having a voice and being respected for their views and contributions
- Older people being enabled to access the support and knowledge they need to age well

We will do this by:

- Influencing policy and its implementation
- Working with individuals, organisations and communities so that they are more effective in the delivery of their services
- Developing practice and resources and working in communities
- Developing and promoting evidence based practice
- Working collaboratively with other organisations

Significant achievements in the year

The Foundation has identified three key thematic areas of work which all link together to contribute to our overall purpose:
Advocacy

- Dementia advocacy project received extra funding from Stoke PCT for an extra 30 hour post
- In June 2010 two new coordinators were recruited, one to replace the retiring coordinator and the other for the new 30 hour post

Representation

- Attending Keele consultation meeting on safeguarding
- Contributed to national consultation on personalisation
- Board member of the Older People’s Advocacy Alliance (UK)

Hosting

- Facilitated dementia befriending toolkit in partnership with Counsel and Care at BJF
- Organised a national seminar in York to explore and make recommendations on supervision for advocacy managers

Advocacy support programme (ASP)

- Evaluation of the ASP project completed at the end of year and is available on BJF and OPAAL websites. The programme achieved all its targets.

Intergenerational Practice

Development and launch of the new Centre for Intergenerational Practice website.

Three intergenerational (IG) training modules completed and a ‘Train the Trainer’ package developed and delivered across England, Scotland and Wales.

IG training for youth workers/organisations and those intending to work with young people developed and delivered across all nine English regions.

Intergenerational Advisory Group for the Centre for Intergenerational Practice has become the joint advisory group for Beth Johnson Foundation and Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation’s IG work.

Manchester City Council joint conference with Keele University; Facing the Future: Creating the Age-friendly City. As part of this the Foundation organised two seminars: Communities for All Ages and Posite Ageing across the Life Course.

Workshops/presentations

Throughout the year staff spoke at Conferences, Symposia and Workshops across the UK and internationally on intergenerational practice.
New Funding in Year

Funding from Stoke-on-Trent City Council to design and deliver multigenerational community engagement programme to deliver on the Stoke Connecting Communities initiative.

Manchester City Council to review intergenerational experience gained in Manchester through GT funding.

Manchester City Council to undertake a review of Lifetime Neighbourhoods.

DfE (then DCFS) to develop a support programme for Local Authorities who were short listed for but unsuccessful in obtaining Generations Together Funding.

Publications

Intergenerational Practice, Policy and Performance: A Framework for Local Authorities

This guide provides a detailed analysis of how intergenerational projects can be used to meet national indicators, and supports BJF’s intergenerational approach to work with Local Authorities. The guide brings together an online library of case studies, resources and contacts that are of particular importance to Local Authorities; the guide was funded through the DCSF CYPF grant.

Evaluating Intergenerational Projects: A Practical Guide to Useful Resources

A guide to assist those working in the intergenerational field that are seeking to evidence the impact their work makes, or starting to think about this process. The document provides an overview of resource materials that offer practical support and guidance.
2008

Objectives and activities

The purpose of the Foundation is to stimulate and facilitate change which enhances the quality of life for older people and the experience of the ageing process. It seeks to achieve this by undertaking projects, programmes and partnerships that improve the understanding and practice of practitioners and policy makers across the United Kingdom.

In pursuit of this we contributed to a large number of publications, conferences, seminars, workshops and training events throughout the year.

Currently its activities are organised in four programme areas:

Advocacy

The Foundation has been involved in Advocacy with Older People since its inception in the UK. We are funded to deliver a specialist Advocacy for People with Dementia Programme across North Staffordshire. This project has a national reputation and is one of the few such specialist projects in the country. Given the recently published national dementia strategy and the projected increases in the number of people with dementia the project remains highly relevant and also gives credibility to our wider national programmes.

The National Advocacy Support Programme is funded by the Department of Health until March 31st 2011. The programme works with local advocacy projects across England to provide support, validation and learning exchange. It also engages with key national initiatives to promote the well being of older people such as the Safeguarding Adults Alliance.

We also host and provide support to the Older People’s Advocacy Alliance which provides a key structure for us to disseminate our learning on Advocacy.

Health Improvement

With core funding from the two local PCTs for the next three years the project focuses on developing community approaches to promoting health and well being for older people who are primarily 65+. These programmes are aimed to be both sustainable and replicable. We have developed a number of innovative accredited courses as part of our Active in Age brand that work primarily in North Staffordshire but have been delivered with partners across England and Wales.

The Active in Age Programme for Older Adults has now trained 370 peer health mentors, throughout the North Staffordshire Area, to deliver the Physical Activity Programme for older people in community settings. Nationally, the Active in Age and Training the Trainer has been delivered within several Primary Care Trusts for members of staff who wish to cascade the training within their own localities.

The Falls Prevention Training Programme has been developed in partnership with NHS Stoke on Trent, to enable volunteers and workers that have access to the older population, to carry out a risk assessment exercise using a falls prevention assessment tool which has been piloted and evaluated over a number of years.

Intergenerational Practice

For a number of years we have been systematically developing our understanding of intergenerational practice and its potential as a tool to build healthier, better connected and more cohesive communities where members of all the generations have respect and understanding for each other.

This programme has a number of current strands. These include:

- The Centre for Intergenerational Practice is funded the Big Lottery and the Ellerman Foundation to develop intergenerational work across England, particularly by providing a support infrastructure to local voluntary and community sector organisations and to influence government and national NGOs.

- The Wales strategy for Intergenerational Practice is a government funded initiative to develop a strategic approach to intergenerational practice across Wales.

- The Belfast initiative is a programme geared to support the development of local initiatives and to develop a strategic funded approach to IP across Northern Ireland.

We are currently working with a number of local authorities to embed intergenerational work within their policies and practices. Current partners include: Manchester, Leeds, Belfast, Cardiff, Swansea, Monmouthshire, Rhondda Cynon Taff, Derbyshire, Lincolnshire and Merton.

EAGLE is a pan European project on Intergenerational Approaches to Lifelong Learning.

IANUS is a pan European study of intergenerational and intercultural life long learning.

During the year Professor Matt Kaplan from Penn State University completed his sabbatical with the Foundation.

We continue to host the International Consortium for Intergenerational Programmes and have a wide range of international partners.
Midlife

We have been undertaking a developmental evaluation of how we should take midlife work forward which will lead to a concrete business plan for this area of work as part of our overall business plan for 2009 to 2012. Currently we have the Midlife Health Check Project which is using health checks as an engagement tool to work with people from disadvantaged backgrounds. Funding for this programme finishes in July 2009 and we are currently working on funding applications for a revised version of the programme incorporating our learning to date.

The volunteering for Health Project funded through Opportunities for Volunteers uses volunteering to build the confidence and opportunities for people in midlife who experience loss of confidence and identity and may be experiencing low levels of anxiety and depression.

The Benefits of Maturity Project works in partnership with Filantropia in Poland and we provide the external expert role on this programme looking at the issues around employment post 50 in Poland.

We are commissioned by the Department of Health to be the expert external reference group to the national Lifecheck programme.

Achievements in year

- Commission by the Department of Works and Pensions to produce resource packs for UK Older People’s Day
- Commission by the Welsh Assembly Government to undertake the consultation and drafting for the National Strategy for Intergenerational Practice launched on October 1st.
- Commission by Department of Health to be the Expert reference group to the Midlife Lifecheck programme

Following a strategic review the Foundation has identified intergenerational practice and work in the area of midlife as its two current priorities.

To work towards this end the Foundation was involved in a number of projects, programmes and activities during the year. Detailed information is available from our web sites on www.bjf.org.uk and www.centreforip.org.uk

Intergenerational Practice

The systematic promotion and development of intergenerational understanding is a major focus of our work. During 2007 we had a number of programmes in this area. These include:

The Centre for Intergenerational Practice. The Centre provides a wide range of services and activities including consultancy, information and advice, website, e-bulleting, newsletters training, publications and research.

Strategy for Intergenerational Practice in Wales. Funded by the Welsh Assembly activities include the Welsh Centre for Intergenerational Practice in partnership with the University of Glamorgan, conferences, a training programme, newsletter, website.

EAGLE. This is a two year European programme funded by Socrates exploring European models on inter and trans generational learning. The Foundation is one of the national partners.
International Consortium for Intergenerational Programmes (ICIP). The Foundation continues to host and provide the secretariat for ICIP. In 2006 we were one of the sponsors of the international ICIP conference in Melbourne and the Director gave two of the conference presentations.

Intergenerational Community Development Project. This project funded through the local area agreement has been working to build more positive relationships, trust and understanding between the generations by engaging groups of young and old people in community based activities. In particular it has been looking to reduce the negative impacts that fear of crime can have on older people’s health and well being.

Midlife

This has become a focus for the Foundation’s Activities and a number of programmes were run through the year. These include:

The Midlife project. This project is targeted at people in midlife in more disadvantaged community and aims to give them increased control of their lives through an action planning and capacity building programme. Activities include health checks, case-work, volunteering, training and working with employers to develop more age friendly workplaces. This project builds on our learning from other projects and in particular from the National Pre-retirement Health Programme.

Volunteering for Health. This project was launched in June 2006 and is funded by Opportunities for Volunteers to develop a programme using volunteering to build the confidence and well-being of people in midlife who are unemployed with low level mental health problems.

Fit for Life. Funded through the Healthy Community Collaborative this is a partnership project with the Worker’s Education Association to promote health options for people in midlife.

During the year the Foundation undertook a number of scoping exercises on Midlife work and as a consequence recruited to the post of Strategic Lead to develop this area of work. This will be funded from our own resources and the person takes up post on 1st April 2008.

Advocacy

The Foundation continues to run an Advocacy and Dementia Project for Older People in North Staffordshire. This is funded by the Balance Foundation and local Primary Care Trusts and provides a highly specialist service to older people with very complex needs. The Foundation also hosts OPAAL, the Older People’s Advocacy Alliance, which is a separate charity working in partnership with the Foundation. During the year project staff and OPAAL did a number of joint presentations.
Health

The Health Improvement Project, funded through the PCTs continued to lead on the development of active ageing opportunities across North Staffordshire. In addition to established programmes such as Active in Age the project has developed a new accredited Falls Prevention Programme and undertook consultation work on people’s health beliefs to inform local strategies. Increasingly the project is offering training to other PCTs and Housing Associations across England.

Throughout the year the project engaged in local consultations, gave presentations and contributed to the broader older people’s health promotion agenda.

Significant achievements in year

- Achievement of Big Lottery Funding to develop the work of the Centre for Intergenerational Practice for the next three years.

- Supporting the development of All Our Futures: Planning for a Scotland with an Ageing Population which sets out the government commitment to establish a Scottish Centre for Intergenerational Practice that will draw on the expertise of the Centre for Intergenerational Practice.

- Being a member of the Task and Finish Group reviewing the future of the Strategy for Older people in Wales.

- Commissioned to develop a draft national intergenerational strategy for the Welsh Assembly Government.

- The work in partnership with the University of Glamorgan on developing an intergenerational strategy for Wales being identified by the external evaluation of the Strategy for Older People as both a priority and a success leading to enhanced funding for a further three years.

- The launch, in partnership with the University of Wales, of the Accredited Distance Learning Course the Welsh University Certificate of Intergenerational Practice.

- In partnership with Derbyshire County Council the development and launch of the Manchester Intergenerational Strategy and Action Plan.

- Commissioned by Lincolnshire PCT to develop a programme of intergenerational activities across the County.

- Being invited to become a member of the Opportunity Age Strategy Steering Group.
The development of an accredited Falls Prevention training programme.

The appointment of a midlife strategy lead to steer the strategic development of our future work in this field in line with our strategic priorities.

Being commissioned by Filantropia in Poland to develop an expert programme on age friendly work places.

The successful development of the European partnership project, EAGLE, European Approaches to Intergenerational Life Long Learning.

Being a partner in the successful IANUS project bid for a ten county European Study on European Guidelines for Later Learning in Intergenerational, ICT and Later Life Settings.

Being commissioned by Groundwork UK to undertake the evaluation of the Safe and Sound programme and produce a learning document on good practice in Environmental Intergenerational Projects.

Being joined by Professor Matt Kaplan from Penn State University for a twelve month sabbatical.

Healthy Communities Collaborative funding for the ‘Fit for Life’ programme in partnership with the Workers Education Association.

Key Conference during year

- CCIP (The Welsh Centre for Intergenerational Practice) held two conferences in 2006; Ages and Stages – The Role of Storytelling in Intergenerational Practice at the University of Glamorgan and in Llandudno.

- CIP 2007 Conference – ‘Across the Divide’ The Role of Intergenerational Practice in Building Better Cross Generational Understanding’. This was held in Manchester and 104 delegates attended including a strong delegation from Spain.

- The Director attended and presented at the Generations United 14th International Conference Intergenerational: It’s Monumental in Washington D.C.

- Connecting Generations: Warsaw – The Foundation was invited by a partnership of the PZU Foundation and the Academy for the Development of Philanthropy in Poland to make the keynote speech at their conference in April 07: ‘The potential of intergenerational programmes – international perspective, the experience of the UK’.

Key publications

- In partnership with CCIP and in collaboration with the Institute of Welsh Affairs on a publication ‘Between the Generations: Raising the Profile of Intergenerational Practice in Wales’.

- The Centre produced a guidance pack on intergenerational work for circulation to all schools in Wales as part of the Welsh Government’s celebration of UN Day of Older People 1st October 2007.

2006

Intergenerational Practice

The systematic promotion and development of intergenerational understanding is a major focus of our work. During 2006 we had a number of programmes in this area. These included:

The Centre for Intergenerational Practice. Funded by Lloyds TSB Foundation the Centre provided a wide range of services and activities including consultancy, information and advice, website, e-bulletins, newsletters, training, publications and research.

During the year we were successful in achieving funding from the John Ellerman Foundation to implement an Approved Provider Standard for organisations running intergenerational projects.

Papers and presentations were given to a wide variety of audiences including the International Consortium of Intergenerational Programmes biennial conference in Melbourne; the launch of the Japanese Intergenerational Network in Tokyo; a Cabinet Office Seminar as part of the Third Sector Review; the All Party Parliamentary Groups for both Children and Young People and Older People at Westminster; and a cross department group of the Scottish Executive. In addition active regional networks were maintained with regular meetings in London and the South-East, West Midlands and the North-West.

Strategy for Intergenerational Practice in Wales. Funded by the Welsh Assembly activities include the Welsh Centre for Intergenerational Practice in partnership with the University of Glamorgan, conferences, a training programme, newsletter, website, chairing grandparents working party for the Welsh Assembly and membership of the Task and Finish Group reviewing the Strategy for Older People in Wales.

EAGLE. This is a two year European programme funded by Socrates exploring European models on inter and trans generational learning. The Foundation is one of the national partners.

Intergenerational Consortium for Intergenerational Programmes (ICIP). The Foundation continues to host and provide the secretariat for ICIP. In 2006 we were one of the sponsors of the international ICIP conference in Melbourne and the Director gave two of the conference presentations.

The Grandparents Project. Funded by the Children’s Fund Stoke-on-Trent this is a practical project looking at the needs and rights of Grandparents, particularly where they have a significant caring role for their grandchildren.

Midlife

This has become an increasing focus for the Foundation’s Activities and a number of programmes were run through the year. These include:

Pathways to Employment. Funded by the Neighbourhood Renewal Fund this was the subject of an external evaluation during the year which is available from our website.
This project was absorbed in to a major new Midlife project, funded from the Local Area Agreement and launched in October.

The Midlife project. This project is targeted at people in midlife in more disadvantaged communities and aims to give them increased control of their lives through an action planning and capacity building programme. Activities include health checks, case-work, volunteering, training and working with employers to develop more age friendly workplaces. This project builds on our learning from other projects and in particular from the National Pre-retirement Health Programme.

The original employment project funded through the LEAP programme by SRB and ESF finished in June 2006. This pilot project was one of the precursors to our new Midlife programme.
Volunteering for Health. This project was launched in June 2006 and is funded by Opportunities for Volunteers to develop a programme using volunteering to build the confidence and well-being of people in midlife who are unemployed with low level mental health problems.

During the year project staff gave a number of external workshops including one at the DWP Welfare to Work conference and at the annual conference of The Age Employment Network (TAEN).

Advocacy

The Foundation continues to run an Advocacy and Dementia Project for Older People in North Staffordshire. This is funded by the Balance Foundation and local Primary Care Trusts and provides a highly specialist service to older people with very complex needs. The Foundation also hosts OPAAL, the Older People’s Advocacy Alliance, which is a separate charity working in partnership with the Foundation. During the year project staff and OPAAL did a number of joint presentations and the Foundation was part of OPAAL’s national benchmarking project.

Health

In July 2006 the Hibiscus Project for African and African-Caribbean Elders became a fully independent Charity with mainstream funding achieving all of the aims of the original contract. The project has been an innovative partnership between a BME community organisation and a mainstream charity which has achieved a sustainable future for our BME partners.

The Health Improvement Project, funded through the PCTs and the Engaging for Health Project, funded through Neighbourhood Renewal Funds (NRF), undertook a number of key activities:

Further development of the Active in Age accredited training programme for peer health mentors in community groups. Over 180 volunteers have now been trained plus 24 trainers to further develop the project. Increasingly we are training trainers from other parts of England to implement the programme in their own areas.

An accredited reminiscence training programme was developed with Borderland Voices and with funding from Awards for All, 20 volunteers are being trained to deliver the programme in their own community groups.

Work continued on developing an accredited Falls Prevention training programme.

With NRF support a number of local consultation projects were undertaken leading to published reports on topics including older people’s views on Fear of Crime and the Health Beliefs of People in Midlife.
Throughout the year the project engaged in local consultations, gave presentations and contributed to the broader older people’s health promotion agenda.

Commissioned Programmes

During the year the Foundation was commissioned by a number of partners to undertake activities in accordance with its charitable objectives. These included:

- Commission as development partner to Derbyshire Intergenerational Schools Strategy.
- Commission to develop intergenerational work as part of the Worcestershire Neighbourhood Network.
- Commission to facilitate Citizens Together programme for Sandwell.

2000

Projects in existence at beginning of 2000

- Moorlands Careline: Project formally transferred to Cheadle Home Link and re-launched as Phone Link. Grant of £4800 given to enable successful transfer.

- Intergenerational Mentoring Project: Project has exceeded all project targets. It has been featured as a model of excellence both for local and national HAZ. The project has attracted considerable media attention. At the end of the year 49 volunteers were working in nine High Schools.

- Hibiscus Project: The project has been evaluated during the year and re-launched with a new staffing and organisational model. At the end of the year Opportunity for Volunteers funding was obtained to appoint a part time volunteer co-ordinator.

- Health Promotion Project: The project was launched at the beginning of the year to lead on the development of Health Promotion for older people across North Staffordshire. During the year the project was restructured and now has the Head of Research and Policy leading on strategy and a health improvement worker developing practical project work. During the year the lease on the shop used for the Senior Health Shop was disposed of.
The Senior Centre: Discussions are being progressed with the WRVS for joint working with the King George VI Centre for the development of an Age Resource Centre for the area. These discussions are ongoing.

Moorlands Day Care Groups: Discussions as to possible alternative management has been undertaken through year but with no outcome to date. The Biddulph Group has been particularly successful.

Advocacy and Dementia Project: The interim evaluation was received from Stirling University in June. Following consideration of the local and national picture it was decided to develop a further advocacy project as a national demonstration model focussing particularly on the use of paid advocates. Funding has been achieved for this next stage from April 1st through the Health and Social Care Fund. Following the move of the Co-ordinator to Jersey a new staffing model has been adopted.

New Projects launched during the year

Intergenerational Community Development Project: This project is funded for two years from January 2001 to explore ways of improving the status and connection of older people within fragmented communities within the Newcastle Coal Field area.

Centre for Intergenerational Practice: Three year UK Lotteries Charity Board funding was achieved to launch the development of Intergenerational work across the UK. Funding enables the appointment of a centre manager, and the development of a professional network and web site. In support of this development three year funding was also received from the Lloyds TSB Foundation to undertake a full review of Intergenerational work in the UK and a three year seminar programme.

Peer Mentoring Project Wolverhampton: The Foundation has been asked to undertake the evaluation and development support to this project to develop IT skills for older people through the use of older mentors.

Organisational Changes

The upgrading of offices and computerisation was completed.

During the year staffing was restructured to take account of the increase activity of the Foundation and the impact of computerisation. The post of Office Manager was deleted and a part time finance officer appointed. The post of Deputy Director was established and recruited to. The post of Research and Development Manager was amended to Head of Research and Policy to reflect its increased importance to the Foundation.

The Foundation launched its first Web Site.
